

ABSTRACT

This invention relates to a composition that can inhibit the elevation of blood pressure, does not generate any side effects, and can be safely used. Particularly, this invention relates to food or a pharmaceutical composition for preventing hypertension that can inhibit the elevation of blood pressure via the long-term oral ingestion thereof and comprises at least one member selected from among acetic acid, acetate ion, and acetate.